

10 QUALITIES OF A GREAT TEAMMATE

by
JP CLARK

LEAD BY EXAMPLE 1

The best teammates establish winning cultures through their own character, commitment, and work ethic. They lead with tremendous effort in all situations as they set the example for their teammates to follow.

BE A POSITIVE FORCE 6

A great teammate lifts the spirits of the group through enthusiasm and encouragement. Superstar teammates have an energy about themselves that keeps everyone in the group positive and confident.

SACRIFICE YOUR EGO 2

The ultimate teammates set aside their personal agendas sacrificing themselves for the good of the team. They accept their role and work towards becoming a star in that role.

SHOW RESPECT 7

Great teammates are coachable. They hold themselves accountable as they are true team players. A great teammate shows respect by listening, being on time, and having a good attitude.

CARE PASSIONATELY 3

Great teammates are incredibly supportive. They are excited for your success and they always have your back during times of struggle. The best teammates never let their individual performance affect their attitudes.

BE RELIABLE 8

The best teammates can always be counted on. Day in and day out they follow through on their word. Great teammates earn the respect of the group through their consistency.

BRING OUT THE BEST IN OTHERS 4

Great teammates completely believe in their fellow team members. They know their teammates strengths and position them to succeed. This total trust allows their teammates to perform with tremendous confidence.

COMPETENT 9

Great teammates always push themselves to expand their understanding of the systems they employ. They understand that the more knowledge they have, the more they can help their teammates.

COMMUNICATE OPENLY 5

A great teammate connects with team members by personally investing in each one. They form strong relationships allowing them to lead, demand accountability, and keep the team moving in the right direction.

HIGHLY COMPETITIVE 10

Great teammates are fueled by an internal fire that pushes them toward continual improvement. They set high standards and push their teammates to put forth their best effort.
